INTRODUCTION TO GRADE 7 PVA

Performing and visual arts include music, dance, theatre and visual art. The arts such as visual art, dance, theatre, music, and media arts (PVA) are legally defined as a core thematic area in Ethiopian education; they are commonly considered special subjects and usually the first learning area to make room for something new to create and innovate in performing and visual art works. Educators of PVA must never underestimate the power of the arts.

Performing and visual arts (PVA) inspire and delight learners performing and visual arts are used to promote massive ways in learning and teaching processes to create meaning and find fulfillment for the gaps of good values of our societies.

This grade level was designed to provide quality education in teaching performing and visual arts studies in Ethiopian 1st and 2nd cycle schools. This PVA instructional program has been designed to meet the country's needs of PVA educators, students and educational institutions at different levels. The arts education visual and performing arts instructional program is designed in the arts sciences under a disciplined practice is to create the competent students as accomplished grade 7 educations.

The program evolved out of a responsibility to enhance, nurture and empower the cultural assets of the earlier generations while providing a way for the contemporary generation to create something of its own. From this process, it became necessary to develop the program of arts (PVA) grade 7 educations that was fit for capable grade 7 students and to support in raising the professional rank and usefulness of arts education for the young generation.

Competent PVA education will facilitate student growth through carefully constructed courses, Reports, advisement, and other delivery systems. Qualified PVA school will ensure that PVA student develop excellence on a primary arts knowledge and proficiency with all standard and traditional art tools.

Under ministry of education general institutional process which not took place so far, Fine Arts and Design underwent an all-rounded transformation process in the incorporation of the grade 7 performing and visual art proficient subject are integrated together. Performing and visual art teaching processes, the school revised its curriculum to train more qualified and better equipped competent students, talented and art appreciators in a way that they could balance and satisfy the urgent need of grade 7 students.

The rationale behind developing the curriculum was the urgent need in the shift away from the traditional method of instruction to enable and maximize student learning and performance.

Accordingly, the school changed its teaching learning methodology to integrate the four art fields of studies in the year 2014.

Currently, this grade level has been highly engaged in exploring possibilities to refine the quality of art and create critical platforms in which local and international creative, innovative and professional thoughts can be discussed and performed through the understanding of arts in general. This grade level also includes: music, dance, theatre and visual arts as the main contents in different thematic areas to be learned in the class.

1.1 Characteristics of Ethiopian traditional music

1.1.1 Ethiopian Music

Specific learning outcomes:

At the end of learning this unit, you will be able to:

Describe the characteristics and classification of Ethiopian traditional music.

Ethiopia has a long and at times tormented history. With that it has an equally long and fascinating history of traditional music arts, and dance culture. Its folk music and culture has a long step in the history of civilization. Ethiopia is the only country in Africa never to have been colonized. It can be said that it is one of the most unique folk music and also culture in the world. Folk music of Ethiopia is consisting of many type music instruments with thousands years old which survived through the history. The music and culture of Ethiopia has been influenced by Christian, Islam, Jewish and also Afros.

Ethiopia has diverse number of ethnic groups (more than 80 ethnic groups). Each ethnic group has its own traditional music and sounds. This folk music, have tighten with other cultured aspect of each ethnic group like dances, clothes, spirituality, wars and etc....

Ethiopian music began as a form of religious expression during the 4th century AD with the advent of the Ethiopian Orthodox Church.

The churches own unique musical style was created by St Yared, the father of Ethiopian Church music and his appreciable three mode sounds are still practiced today.

The northeastern part of Ethiopia is home to the city of Wollo, which is where the Muslim musical form called Manzuma developed and later spread throughout the country.

Traditionally, in the Ethiopian Highlands, "azmaris" or minstrels are the main musicians and are treated with respect.

Furthermore, Ethiopian music employs a unique modal system called "qenet" that is pentatonic with long intervals between most notes.

The four main modes of "qenet" are "tezeta", "bati", "ambassel" and "anchihoy", with 3 additional modes that are variations of the main 4 modes: "tezeta minor", "bati major", and "bati minor".

Ethiopian music is generally heterophonic or monophonic, while certain areas in the south of the country use a polyphonic style (Dorze polyphonic).

1.1.2. Ethiopian St. Yared

When we see the music of Ethiopia, it is derived from St. Yared, who is Ethiopian Outstanding music expert. He introduced Ethiopia with modern music in the sixth century by introducing the three kinds of melodic styles named Geeze “ግዢዝ”, Ezeil “ዕዘዢ” and Array “አራያዊ” with their corresponding symbols of representation.

Under these melodic styles there are four Main scale based class under which there are other more than.

Even if his work can make him before those who are declared as great contributor to the birth hand development of system of modern music, like Franz Joseph Haydn, Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart and Ludwig van Beethoven. These musicians are emerged over thousands of years after him in Europe but due claim has not been given to St. Yared because of many years of isolation of Ethiopia from the technology directed world. Unique character and sound of Ethiopian folk music comes from a pentatonic modal system, with strange and long interval between the notes. For the modern ears nowadays, this will be more strange and tasty when this music played with western instruments.

The music from highlands of Ethiopia has a modal system called kegnet which consist of four main modes: Tezeta, Bati, Ambassel, and Anchihoye. It also contains two additional modes: Tezeta minor and bati minor. Some songs has the same name with it'sqenet/kegnet. For example: tizita or tezeta. The word Tizita is Amharic word for is memory. This type of folk songs usually compared with the blues in western music. On the list of songs below you can listen to different variation of this mode with Ethiopian music instruments and also western instruments.

The first recordings of folk music of Ethiopia and popularizing it, happened during the time of Emperor Haile Selassie. In 1924 he had a diplomatic tour to Europe but he started his travel with Jerusalem. Because every respected Ethiopian should visit and be pilgrim to JerusalemIn Jerusalem he met a marching band of young Armenian orphans. He was impressed by this band and made a deal to send them to Ethiopia and to form a military music band. This was the seed of early recording for other early Ethiopian musicians like TilahunGessesse, NewayDebebe, and Ethiopia's most famous musical artist, Mahmoud Ahmed. The same as many other African countries (or even Asian countries), military was a place to grow and develop folk music into popular music or receiving of western modern instruments and combine it with folk music instruments and harmony.

Ethiopia is one of the countries with ancient civilization and history. There are 80 nationalities and languages in Ethiopia. When we look at the country's indigenous music, there are many songs, dances, and musical instruments in every nation. These songs and dances are sung with joy, sorrow, work activity, war, hunting, Etc. Ethiopian indigenous music was used as an amateur before foreign music entered the country. This means that even though the musicians are not recognized as a musician, the community sings and dances together. It is difficult to say or write much in this field due to lack of enough research in the field of Ethiopian indigenous music, the wide variety of music character, and variety of Ethiopian indigenous music.

1.1.3. Characteristic by geographical location

Meanwhile, some musicians divide Ethiopian traditional music into three categories. These are:

1. Northern Ethiopian Music

- This category includes Gondar, Gojjam, Tigray, Shoa, Wollo, Gurage and Welega, all of which have the same musical instruments and type of singing.
- In terms of the nature of the melody, those areas are performing Orthodox Tewahedo Christianity and there is a culture of spiritual / church melody.
- The musicians also grew up listening to the music of the church in their daily activities and because they are involved and the spiritual music is spread in these areas, the spiritual music is reflected in their secular music.
- For spiritual songs music instruments like harp, lyre, harp, tambourine, etc., now widely served

2. Eastern Ethiopia and the surrounding

This category includes music and dance for the majority of the Muslim community. They include Harar Oromo, Harari, Somali, Afar, Bale and others.

3. Southern Ethiopia

- Southern Ethiopia includes Wolayita, Gamogofa, Kefas, Sidama, Konso and others.

For the past 120 years, musicians have been working in Addis Ababa since coming to the city. As a result, Addis Ababa began to pay salary for musicians for the first time in 1934 E.C in Hager Feker. Witnesses at the time said it was new to them that considering music as a profession. . Because of music was not considered as a profession in that day, the musician considered as to be idle man.

In the process, they formed the Meder Tor Orchestra in 1935, the Police Serawit in 1936, and the KiburZebegna in 1947, making them a better career and source of income for the musicians.

In the 1960s, Ethiopian music flourished and private musicians emerged. As a result, in addition to Amharic music, the Oromo, the Tigray, Wolayta, and Dorzi songs began to be performed.

In recent years, some European and American musicians have been able to study the music of certain nationalities in various parts of the country.

1.3. Identify theatre & Film Arts

1.3.1. Identify theatre Art

Specific learning outcomes:

At the end of this lesson, you will be able to:

- Identify theatre art

The word "theatre" is derived from the Ancient Greek root word "theatron", meaning, "a place for viewing", and "theaomai," meaning "to see", "to watch", to view, or "to observe" that the specific place for performance is named comedy.

As it is stated above, the words theaomai and theatron combined together to state theatre as it includes the place of performance and what is performed in the given acting area that is connected to a sense of perception to observe.

As a performing art, it is a collaborative form of art which combines words, voice, movement and visual elements to express meaning that uses live performers, typically actors or actresses, to present the experience of a real or imagined event before audience in a specific place, often called a stage which combines words (dialogues), voice of an actor or actress, movements of performers and visual elements to express meaning and encompasses live improvised and scripted (texted) work to deliver an idea that reflects daily lives that demonstrate about the conflict and resolution of fundamental human issues and problems to build positive interactions between societies.

Theatre art is a tool as a springboard for learners to present important aspects of life that develops the art sensitivity to understand the other students' points of view can be taken as the means of communication to deliver messages through individual and social experiences that interpreted, or reflected, and reacted concerning the understanding of the audience from the performances they view on the stage.

To communicate with the audience, theatre art learners (students) make choices for the development of a script idea, design character, or characterization students' experience of the creative process theatre should include an investigation of the “how, when, and why” choices get made to know the source of the stories for the performance of theatre through elements of art such as painted scenery, stagecraft and lighting that are used the acting area of the performance.

To deliver the message to the audience, it needs the flow in theatre which is important for learners to follow how to use the voice, body, and imagination to express concepts, ideas, and emotions such as sadness, happiness, nostalgia, and the like.

Before performing on the stage, artistic creation is fundamental concept that consists generating ideas for the stories and “imagined worlds” and the real world we live in which are communicated through words, mind, body movement, aural elements, and visual elements. The performers may communicate the experience of real-life to the audience through combinations of gesture, speech, song, music, and dance in a specific place to enhance the physicality, presence, and immediacy of the daily experience.

The above mentioned point, about the word theatre, explains that the term “theatre” also refers to building (theatre spaces), an activity for doing or going to the theatre, an institution that more narrowly studies theatre as an art form and suggests theater as the art or activity of writing and performing plays, or the public performance of plays, or other activity or presentation considered in terms of its dramatic quality. Theatre, also spelled theater, in architecture, a building or space in which a performance may be given before an audience.

Although the definition of "theatre" contains different contents, the term, in general, refers to acting area or building that the audiences are going to watch the performance and the actors and actresses that perform what is seen on the stage.

1.3.1.1. Theatre Art in the Context of Ethiopia

According to modern technology, the development of the Ethiopian Theatre is indeed a recent phenomenon to discuss and investigate its background. It is very difficult to show a clear period of Ethiopian theatre when it began. Because of the lack of publishing works regarding Ethiopian theatre, it needs further research to explore its facts.

Nevertheless, there are not enough resources with Ethiopian Theatre History, Fabula (comedy of animals or Yawureoch Commedia) is probably the first original African play ever written and produced (Plastow, 2010) in the case of Ethiopia.

Fabula was probably written in 1913 by TeklehawariatTeklemariam but the country has different theatre houses such as Hager Fikir Theatre, Haile Selassie Theatre (National Theatre of Ethiopia), Addis Ababa City Hall and Ras Theatre that can be mentioned as the oldest theatre building and institution in Ethiopian Theatre History.

Even though there are few written pieces of evidence explore playhouses (theatre houses) of Ethiopia, there are few resources that narrate about theatre houses of the country.

But the invention of the Ethiopian Theatre states that theatre houses established in the country during Haile Sellasie 1st regime. For instance, Hager Fikir Theatre was founded in 1935, at the time when people of Addis Ababa founded "Hager FikirMaheber"(Association for the love of the Motherland) to stand against the upcoming Italian invasion. The founder, MekonnenHabtewold, wanted to encourage the patriotic mettle of the Ethiopian people.

The first open-air productions took place at Menelik Square, the city center of Addis Ababa. Although the Italian occupation could not be prevented, Hager Fikir Theatre survived. However, there were few uncritical and fascist friendly plays brought on stage during the period of occupation.

After the withdrawal of the Italian troops (regime) in 1941, the theatre crew moved from Menelik Square to the place where it is located nowadays in the Piazza district. A former Italian night club was reconstructed as a theatre hall. At the 25th anniversary of Haile Selassie's reign in 1955, the main entrance of the hall was enlarged and an imperial balcony and lounge were built.

During the reign of Haile Selassie, the Hager Fikir Theatre grew, although the Emperor established the Haile Selassie Theatre (today the National Theatre) as an additional theatre in Addis Ababa. The Hager Fikir Theatre continued as a popular theatre for the common people of the city whereas the Haile Selassie Theatre was mainly visited by high-class society.

Besides regular performances, the Hager Fikir Theatre also broadcast live radio shows on Ethiopian radio. Moreover, the troop went on tour regularly, so that people from rural Ethiopia also could have access to the productions of Hager Fikir.

After Haile Selassie's reign at the time of the Derg Regime, the Hager Fikir Theatre continued to produce socialistic plays and performances. Musicians and actors were mostly controlled and the work of the directors was censured by the government. For example, because of the censorship done, in 1975, the Hager Fikir director TesfayeGesesse was arrested for his play "Iqaw" ("The Thing").

It was said to be anti-Derg and anti-revolutionary. After the downfall of the Derg Regime in 1991, the Hager Fikir Theatre continued its work.

The Hager Fikir Theatre that is found in Addis Ababa is not only the theatre with the greatest tradition in Ethiopia but also it can be taken as the oldest indigenous theatre in Africa. Hager Fikir stands for more than 80 years of cultural life in Addis Ababa. It is a playhouse where modern Ethiopian music and drama were born and nurtured. Many stars like Aster Aweke, TilahunGessesse and FrewHailu began their careers on the stage of Hager Fikir Theatre.

Both traditional Ethiopian plays and translations of plays by William Shakespeare, Friedrich Schiller, Henrik Ibsen, and Moliere have been produced at Hager Fikir Theatre in recent decades.

After the establishment of Hager Fikir Theatre, the National Theatre of Ethiopia is the other big theatre house that is formerly known as the Haile Selassie First Theater is the oldest theatre (playhouse). Its architecture (hall) had begun to be built during the Italian occupation as the Cinema Marconi with some 350 seats. The building was later completed in 1955 for the celebrations of the Silver Jubilee and expanded to seat 1260 people. The theatre group was founded by the government in the late 1940s, with the main objective of playing Ethiopian songs by soloists accompanied by a modern orchestra.

The Austrian composer Franz Zelwecker became the first director of the National Theater. The theater is divided into two directorates, one for theater and the other for music. The music directorate includes the Izra Folk Music and Dance Group, Yared Modern Orchestra, Dawit POP Orchestra and String Orchestra (Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia).

Because of the intangibility of different data resources to narrate Ethiopian Theatre History, it is difficult to point out the relevant facts but theatre research on the development of Ethiopian theatre suggests that it is very likely that plays were performed in the country during Axumite period. The word “theatre” exists in Ge’ez and archaeological evidence indicates that Greek was spoken in the Axumite court.

With the advent of Christianity in the country, the pagan theatre would have been closed down. And as it was in Europe, passion plays developed as part of church ceremonies. Every Easter the pageant of the passion was performed throughout Christian Ethiopia.

The church, with its costumes and props, the clerical vestments, multi-colored umbrellas, the dances of the clergy, the prayer sticks and drums and sistra, was an arena for the highest theatrical development in Ethiopia.

There were also other forms of traditional theatre in the country(Ethiopia), such as the different kinds of dance-drama, Fukera (war songs), and even the institution of the Azmaris (wandering minstrels) and Are-hos (wandering singers) who, as paid professionals, may have been the first Ethiopian actors. In Ethiopia, plays in the modern sense are a recent phenomenon.

The advent of modern drama coincides with the development of the modern school system. Students presented the first modern play in Ethiopia at the Menelik II School in 1914. There is no record of what the play was about or who wrote it.

However, at about the same time the first modern play in Amharic was produced and written by Fitawrari Tekle Hawariat, who was born in 1881 and had studied in Russia and France, the play was entitled Fabula (Comedy of Animals), and was based on La Fontaine's Fables.

As a satire of contemporary Ethiopian administration, the play was banned along with all other theatrical performances until the coronation of Emperor Haile Selassie I in 1930. Studies indicate that theatrical activity, after being forgotten for years, was restarted on the eve of the Italian invasion.

It could be said that most theatre shows presented at this time were related to the impending war and aimed at mobilizing the people to defend the country's independence.

In 1935 the Ethiopian National Patriotic Association (Hager Fiker) was founded. Before the building was erected, plays intended to arouse patriotic feelings were performed in the open air at Menelik II Square. It was during this time that Yoftahe Nigusse wrote and produced Afajeshign (You Made Me Quarrel), an allegorical play forewarning the dangers awaiting Ethiopia. Written in verse with songs and dance, Afajeshign has several memorable scenes of lamentation, which reflect Yoftahe's considerable poetic talents. Yoftahe Nigusse was not the only playwright in the prewar years.

Though less well known, Melaku Begosew wrote several plays during this period. Captain Nalbandian's Gonderew Gebre Mariam (Adventures of Gebre Mariam of Gondar) was presented in 1933 at the Menelik II School.

After the war, the Association resumed activities centered on further uniting the people and assisting national development. It was felt that the theatre was an excellent medium for enlightening the public. The Hager Fiker Theatre, beginning a tradition of popular theatre, which is still being carried on, put on regular plays. In 1947 the Addis Ababa City Hall formed a committee headed by Yoftahe Nigusse to start a theatrical group.

After Yoftahe's untimely death, Afework Adafre, Captain Nalbandian and Tesfaye Tessemma carried on the work, and before long they were presenting plays at the City Hall. This ushered in a period of great activity in the theatrical field with the then Prime Minister Bitwoded Mekonen Endalkatchew's Yedem Dimts (Echo of Blood) in 1948, his Salsawi Dawit (David the Third) in 1951, Woizeros Senedu Gebru's Yelib Metshaf (Book of My Heart) in 1949.

1950 saw the production of Dejazmatch Girmatchew Teklehawariat's Theodros, based on the life of the famous 19th-century emperor. This stirring historical play has already become a classic in Ethiopian drama. Kebede Mikael also came up with several plays during this period. In 1947 his Yetinbit Ketero (Appointment with Destiny) appeared.

Two years later came Ato Belayneh, which one critic calls the Amharic "Faust." In 1954, came his translation of "Romeo and Juliet." In 1955, the Haile Selassie 1st Theatre (now Ethiopian National Theatre) was inaugurated on the occasion of the Silver Jubilee of the Emperor's Coronation.

The inaugural play was Dawitna Orion (David and Orion) written by RasBitwodedMekonnen Endalkatchew. Hannibal of Kebede Mikael was also presented at the theatre for the Jubilee celebrations.

The series of theatrical shows presented following the opening of the Ethiopian National Theatre was by far modern in their styles compared to the ones performed earlier. The stagecraft, the lighting, costumes, and make-ups were advanced enough to draw the appreciation of the people. The themes entertained by the theatre show performed in the time between 1961-1974 were closer to the social life of the people, rather than being historical and religious, and thus could be taken as advancement in the development of the art. During this time, Tsegaye GebreMedhin's plays YeshohAklil (A Crown of Thorns), Yekermo Sew (A Man of Tomorrow) and PetrosYatchin Seat (Petros on that Hour) and his translations of Shakespeare's "Othello", "Macbeth" and "Hamlet" were staged. Mengistu Lemma also wrote stage comedies that display an astute satirical sense, pungent irony and a thorough knowledge of traditional Ethiopia. His two stage plays, Telfo Bekise (Marriage by Abduction) and Yalacha Gabitcha (The Marriage of Unequals) have been very successful at making Ethiopian audiences laugh at themselves.

TesfayeGessesse, Abate Mekuria, AwlachewDejenie, TesfayeSahilu, AsnakechWorku, WogayehuNigatu, and DebebeEshetu are also important figures that have contributed significantly to the development of Ethiopian theatre.

In 1974 and thereafter, the art of theater was spread not only in Addis Ababa but also in other towns in the country. During this time, most of the plays were agitprops. In the years that followed and up until 1991, the government's censorship became a serious hindrance to the development of theater.

The area still suffers from lack of training and equipment such as sound system, lighting, video, and cameras, overhead and slide projectors, photocopy and fax machines, computer, printer, scanner, amplifiers, tape recorders, and vehicles.

The National Theater of Ethiopia, which is one of the five theaters in the country, is itself lacking the capacity that should go with its name.

It is unable to meet the expectations to portray the genuine and unadulterated artistic life of the various nations and nationalities of the country and to create a forum whereby nationalities could learn, appreciate and respect each other's arts.

With the multifaceted commitment made to strengthen the activities of the Regional States, the fact that this theater is not organized with the capacity necessary to provide artists coming from different regions with short term training in dancing, acting, stagecraft, and other such skills is worth considering.

In addition to the above-mentioned idea, that most capitals of the National Regional States do not have institutions for the arts is a serious setback and an indicator as to how the importance of the sector to development is overlooked. (Retrieved from Wikipedia, Hager Fiker Theatre and National Theatre of Ethiopia.com)

The Theater Arts Department of Addis Ababa University was opened in 1978 and has been producing the necessary skilled manpower. This has been an enormous contribution to the development of art. The graduates of the Department (theatre arts) have been employed by various governmental and non-governmental organizations both at the federal and regional levels.

The Department, however, with its very limited budget could not have important materials and technical equipment such as lighting and sound systems, computers, printers, scanners, etc.

The fact that the (theatre arts) Department's auditorium at Amist Kilo is serving as a conference center has affected the teaching and learning process.

As it is declared in this research, theatre changes itself with the developments of societies to discover the mechanical movements of human desires to explore their personalities, so what connects the history of theatre stated above to this study is to show that theatre of the earlier is not similar to the theatre of the present day.

Indeed, it evolved from religious rituals through sophisticated refining human expressions that happened from time to time based on the needs and wants of the past audience that are not alike with the current theatre audience.

Nowadays, audiences are wishing to entertain in theatre, through the modern concept to the values they need to get according to their understandings, thought, life experience, age, specialization, educational background, norms, customs, beliefs, observations, judgment, and artistic taste as the advanced societies.

Summary:

Theatre by itself and its study is not in stagnant or static phenomenon rather it consists the ongoing thoughts that evolved from ritual concept to different societal purposes such as educational development, economic, community status, religious teaching, political, language function, culture, customs, conventions of the past historical present and the present societal conditions through dynamism process of societies in the general situations of human life to exist in the reflection of theatre arts. Because theatre, in Ethiopia, the social cohesion to bring people together in the way that members of society think about their lives of the concurrent advanced time that shows the time to forecast about their future identities about entertainment that is based on the lives or the persistence of individuals to declare the inheritance from the tradition society in the dynamics passages of human experiences it is the turning point to know Ethiopian theatre of the past to understand its development of today's.

Summary Questions:

Discuss the following:

- a) Identify theatre arts

Say True or False:

- 1) Theatre is the study of static phenomenon.
- 2) Theater is highly connected with culture.

Choose the Correct Answer:

- 1) Theatre is _____ in human life.
a) reflection b) tool for cultural development c) the means of communication d) all are correct
- 2) Theatre in Ethiopia is still on going.
a) Goes with social development b) cyclical c) a and b d) none

1.3. 2. Identify Film Art

Specific learning outcomes:

At the end of this lesson, you will be able to:

- ♦ Identify film art

The name or the word "film" originates from the fact that photographic film that called film stock has historically been the medium for recording and displaying motion pictures. In this term, it describes that other terms exist for an individual motion-picture, including picture, picture show, moving picture, photoplay, and flick.

The film art relates to all aspects of the production of film like television or movies for cinema (a story or event recorded by a camera as a set of moving images and shown in a cinema or on television considered to be an important art form taken as a source of popular entertainment, and a powerful medium for educating and indoctrinating students.

The visual basis of film gives it an effective power of communication processed through writing, story, photography, drawing, painting, concept art, animation, visual effects, music, acting, and a whole host of other talents, skills, and abilities from talented individual students.

On the other hand, a film art is known as a "movie" or a "motion picture," which a series of moving images shown on a screen, usually with sound, that makes up a story. The word movie here is to mean the photographic strip of plastic that runs through a camera and captures the film's images. Generally, Theatre is a live medium that involves live performance with actors and actresses who act out a real or imagined event before the audience on the stage. In a cinema (theatre house where film is shown), the film, is audio-video medium which is projected with a movie projector on to a large projection screen at the front of the auditorium.

1.3.2.1. Film in the Context of Ethiopia

As it is stated later in this unit, film is considered as the highest form of the technology of arts in our era. According to different researches, this art was first introduced to Ethiopia during the reign of Emperor Menelik II and this was not long after the beginning of the film industry. Its research shows the following concepts:

Later, the first cinema hall called Seytan Bet (House of the Devil) was opened in the year 1923. Until 1974, there were many cinema halls in the country.

However, due to the nationalization of all cinema houses by the government in 1974, the number of cinema houses, instead of showing progress, has gradually decreased. As a result, their number today does not exceed 20.

Setan bet, even these cinema houses, more often than not, is closed. This is due to not only to the decrease in the number of film importers and distributors, but also to the absence of the supply of good quality films and other related problems. As a result, a great number of the youth are nowadays compelled to go to video shops that are opened in different corners of cities (Addis Ababa) and towns to see films that could have negative impacts on their physical and psychological well being. The production of film in Ethiopia began during the reign of Haile Selassie I with a film on his coronation. Following this, documentary films on different issues featuring historical sites, developmental activities and the like were produced.

As the reign of Emperor Haile Selassie I was replaced by the military dictatorship of the Derg, a film entitled “Harvest Three Thousand Years,” which features the bitterness of the life of the peasantry under the feudal system was produced by Haile Gerima, a renowned Ethiopian film director.

There were also films produced by Ethiopian such as Guma (Vendetta), and Hirut. Following this, the Film Production Section, established under the Ministry of Culture and Sports Affairs, produced another film entitled “3002”. The Ethiopian film industry that focused on the production of documentary films continued with the establishment of the Ethiopian Film Center in 1978. The center was then replaced by Ethiopian Film Corporation IN 1997 E.C.

These institutes were able to produce 27 documentaries altogether. Apart from these documentaries two feature films entitled Behiyewt Zuria, and Aster were produced. In contrast to the period covered, however, very little was achieved. This was particularly the effect of the divorce of the sector from private investment after the 1974 revolution.

Summary:

As the sector, film, could not be profitable in developing countries such as Ethiopia, the number of investors that would join the sector and the amount of capital they could invest in it are not expected to be high in a short period of time. In addition to encouraging private investors the government is thus expected to play a significant role in the production of films. In view of the important role that films could play in educating and entertaining the society as well as their significant place in the life of modern society, the task has to be taken seriously.

Summary Questions:

Discuss the following:

- 1) Identify film arts

Say True or False:

- 1) Film never existed in Ethiopia.
- 2) Film industry is only about profit making.
- 3) Ethiopia is rich in Film industry.

1.4 Role and Function of Basic Elements of Design

1.4.1. The Basic Elements of Design

What Are the Elements of basic Design?

Specific learning outcomes:

At the end of this lesson you will be able to:

- ◆ Identify the basic elements of design
- ◆ Understand drawing and painting

Art is a vital and persistence aspect of human experience. But where does the artistic impulse originate? We can see that it is inborn by observing children. Who make pictures, sculptures and model buildings before learning to read or write? Children trace images in dirt build snowmen and sandcastles and decorate just about anything from their own faces to the wall of their houses. All this activities are efforts to impose order on disorder and to create form from formlessness.

Think of the elements of design as the ingredients you need for a recipe. These basic components are essential in art and design and how you can visually construct pieces. Each element is a crucial part of a visual message, and the combination of these has an impact on how the design is perceived. You can use these elements alone or in combination with each other, depending on what you're looking to achieve.

The main elements are:

Space, Line, Shape, Form, Texture, Value, Color

Exercise 1.4.2 A

If a statement is correct write "True" and if it is incorrect write "False"

1. Form is two dimensional.
2. Line is not an element of design.
3. Texture is the surface quality of roughness and smoothness.

1. Space

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Understand and manage positive and Negative space

The Element of Design Space refers to the area within, around, above or below an object or objects. It is important to creating and understanding both two dimensional and three dimensional works of art. With three dimensional art the space things occupy is real as is the space around object. In two dimensional art this is definitely not the case. Two dimensional arts exist on a flat surface, so if something looks three dimensional- it is an illusion! Even the most realistic paintings or photographs are illusions. Two dimensional artists use a number of "tricks" for creating the illusion of depth in their art. Point A point has no dimension or scale. When made visible as a dot, the point establishes a position in space.

2. Line

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Understand and make different kinds of lines

When points move through space or two points are connected line is generated or line is a path of a moving point such as a mark made by a tool or instrument as it is drawn or dragged across a surface. Line is one of the seven elements of art. It is considered by most to be the most basic element of art.

A. Types of Lines

1. Vertical lines- lines that move up and down without any slant.

Fig. 1 Vertical lines

2. Horizontal lines - lines that are parallel to the horizon

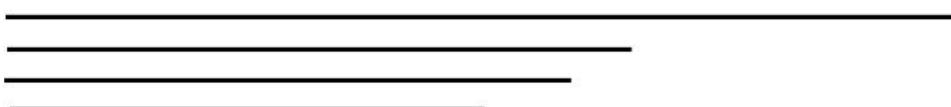

Fig. 2 Horizontal lines

3. Diagonal lines - lines that slant

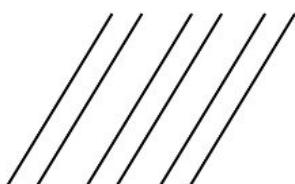

Fig. 3 Diagonal lines

3. Zigzag lines - lines made from a combination of diagonal lines

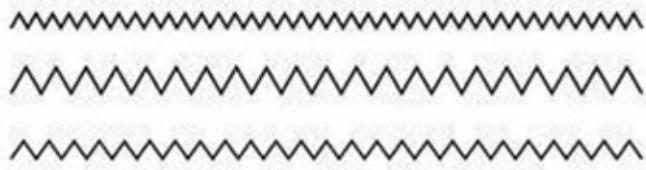

Fig. 4 Zigzag lines

4. Curved lines - Lines that change direction gradually

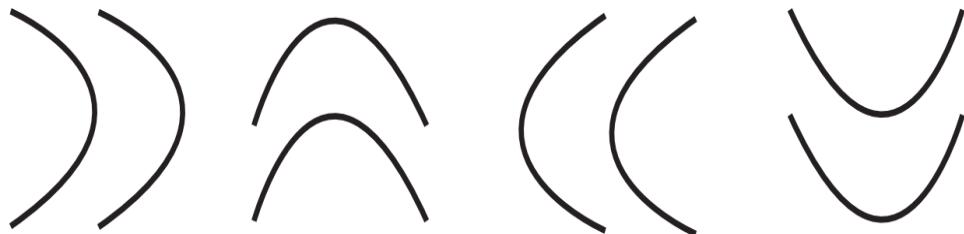

Fig. 5 Curved lines

B. Pressure

A pressure is a force used by the hand of an artist to create different value of line or strokes.

Fig. 6 Pressure

C. Types of stroke

Stroke: - Line refers to a long and contentious thread with a consistent width and pressure refers to forces to create value, while strokes are comparatively short and broken lines in a variety of width.

1. Short individual strokes; change direction occasionally to create a cross-hatching effect.

Fig. 7 Short individual strokes

2. Short, continuous strokes; change direction occasionally

Fig.8 Short, continuous strokes

3. Continuous M-strokes; change direction constantly

Fig.9 Continuous M-strokes

4. Continuous W-strokes; change direction constantly.

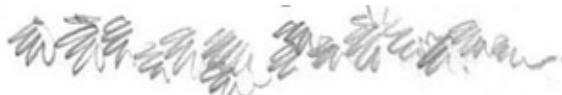

Fig.10 Continuous W-strokes

5. Very short M-strokes; with constant direction

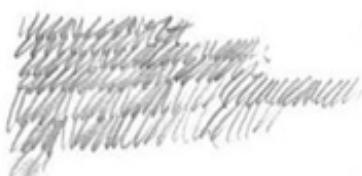

Fig.11 Very short M-strokes

Exercise 1.4.2 B

Draw different types of lines and strokes.

3. Shape

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Understand shapes
- Identify geometric and organic shapes

A shape is created when a line is enclosed. It has a variety of uses in the creation of art. Shapes can play important roles in the creation of art. They help to create complex drawings and paintings, affect composition, and contribute to the balance within a work. Shape is a two-dimensional area that is defined by a change in value or some other form of contrast.

There are two major types of shape. Those are Geometric and organic.

- ⦿ Geometric shapes look as though they were made with a ruler or drawing tool. The square, the circle, the triangle, the rectangle and the oval are the five basic geometric shapes.

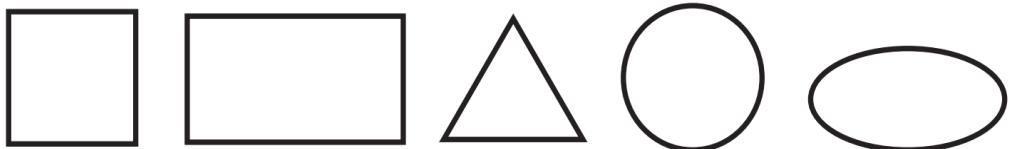

Fig. 12 Geometric shapes

- ⦿ Organic shape also called free form, organic shapes are not regular or even, their outlines may be curved or angular or they may be a combination of both, to make free-form shapes, organic shapes, such as clouds & pebbles are usually found in nature.

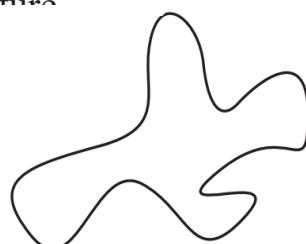

Fig. 13 Organic shape

Exercise 1.4.2 C

1. Draw geometrical shapes.
2. Draw organic shapes.

4. Form

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Understand form
- Identify the difference between shape and form

Form is an element of art, means objects that have three dimensions.
Form is one of the seven elements of art which are the visual tools that an artist uses to compose a work of art.

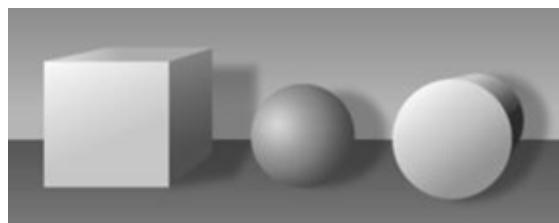

Fig14 Form

5. Texture

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Understand Texture.
- Identify surface characteristics.

Is the surface quality of a shape - rough, smooth, soft hard glossy etc?
Texture can be physical (tactile) or visual.

The surfaces feel of an object or the representation of surface character. Texture is the tactile (physical) and visual (mental) feel of surface area as it is arranged and altered by nature.

The three best known kinds of texture are; actual, simulated, and invented. Actual is actual Simulated is the imitation of real or actual. Invented or decorative textures do not imitate textures of real life.

Fig 15 Texture

6. Value

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Understand and make different kinds of Value

Value is the lightness or darkness of a color. Value is also called Tone. The relative degree of lightness or darkness distributed or applied to an area by the amount of light reflected from it. A gradual or step by step difference of light to dark in shading through any visual recording media. Black, grays, and white: Light to dark scale. Full strength or diluted, high contrast. The relative degree of lightness and darkness.

Fig 17 Value

7. Color

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Understand types of colors.
- Identify the nature of colors.
- Know mixing of colors.

What is color?

Color is a basic element of art that involves light. It is produced when light waves (wavelength) strike an object and are reflected into our eyes. Each light wave has a distinct color. Objects appear to be different colors because some wavelengths are absorbed while others are reflected or transmitted. The wavelengths that are reflected back to our eyes give us the colors we see. Color consists of three properties.

Those are:-

- A. Hue -The name given to a color, such as red, yellow, blue, purple, green, orange, etc.
- B. Intensity-(or saturation) — the purity or dullness of a color. A color's
- C. Value - the lightness or darkness of a color.

Using color effectively in creating art involves understanding three basic areas: the color wheel, color value, and color schemes (or color harmony.)

1.4.3. The Color Wheel

The color wheel is a useful visual aid used by artists and interior designers to understand the relationship between colors. Sir Isaac Newton developed the color wheel in 1666 when he took the color spectrum and bent it into a circle.

Primary colors: - are red, yellow, and blue. These hues are equally spaced apart on the color wheel. There are only three primary colors and they are the most basic colors on the wheel.

Fig 19 Primary colors

Secondary colors:- are orange, green, and purple (or violet). These colors are created by mixing equal parts of any two primary colors.

Fig 20 Secondary colors

Tertiary colors:- are red-purple, red-orange, blue-green, blue-purple, yellow-green, and yellow-orange. There are six tertiary colors, and they are the result of mixing equal parts of a primary color with a secondary color.

Fig 21 tertiary colors

1.4.4. Color Temperature

The temperature of color is how we perceive a particular color, either warm or cool. Warm colors range from red to yellow on the color wheel, whereas cool colors range from blue to green and violet.

Warm Colors

Fig 23 warm colors

1.4.5. Neutral Colors

Neutral colors do not appear on the color chart and are neither warm nor cool.

These colors are Black, White and Gray.

Exercise 1.4.1 B

I. If a statement is correct write ``True`` and if it is incorrect write ``False``

1. The point establishes a position in space.
2. Space is not important to creating and understanding both two dimensional and three dimensional works of art.
3. Two dimensional arts exist on a flat surface.

II. Choose the correct answer

1. _____ is the lightness or darkener of a color?
A. Line B. Texture C. Value D. Form
2. The three properties of color are?
B. Hue B. Intensity C. Value D. All
3. _____ is the complementary color of red?
A. Yellow B. Green C. Gray D. Orange

Summary:

The basic design education is a process which enables the student to communicate with the field by introducing perceptions, impressions, observations, researches, associations, inventions, information, evaluation and many other intellectual processes while delivering new forms to original forms. In this context, basic design education is an education-training process that provides basic theoretical knowledge of the field for students and supports this knowledge through applied studies. At the same time, basic design education is equipped with a content based on realizing the work of art and design fields by teaching visual language in the direction of basic elements and principles, supporting students' creative thinking process, combining information and imagination to visual expiration.

Summary Question

1. Which one is the tertiary color?
A. Yellow B. Blue green C. Gray D. Orange
2. _____ is the quality of surface characteristics?
A. Line B. Texture C. Value D. Form
3. _____ is the path of moving point through a space.
A. Form B. Shape C. value D. Line

Unit2

Creative Expressions

Introduction to unit two

Under unit two you are going to learn different concepts of PVA subject those are adjusted in to music, Dance, Theatre/film and Visual arts respectively. Based on that the main concepts of these Arts are as follows: In the case of music, you will learn what solfeggio is and will perform solfeggio in $\frac{3}{4}$ and $\frac{4}{4}$ time signature.

In the case of dance, you will understand the characteristics of Ethiopian folk dance. In this lesson you will introduce participants to dance styles from the diverse cultures in Ethiopia such as Tigray, Wollo, Gondar, Gurage, Wolaita, and Oromo. In addition to teaching these dances in a hands-on manner and you will explain the dances' geographical, historical, and socio-cultural contexts, their meanings in these contexts, and their development in contemporary Ethiopia.

In the case of theater,it describes the expression of ideas: in theater, video and photographExpress ideas in theater, video and photographExpress moods in theater, video and photographexpress feelings in theater, video (film) and photographExpress themes in theater, video and photograph, Express Ideas in Theatre. In the case of visual Arts, it describe A painting is a one-off created by hand, whereas prints are usually multiples. ... There are many different types of print, some produced manually while others are made by automated printing processes. The term

'print' includes a whole range of artwork, from inexpensive disposable posters through to rare antiques.

General learning outcomes of unit two

At the end of unit two, you will be able to:

- ◆ Perform Solfeggio in different time signature ($\frac{3}{4}$, $\frac{4}{4}$)
- ◆ Use notation Play rhythm pitch, beats, rest by using modes of Ethiopian Music (Tizita and Bati)
- ◆ Perform folk dance styles
- ◆ Write ideas for theatre, film/video
- ◆ Express moods, feelings, themes, ideas through Theater, Video, and Photograph.
- ◆ Apply Art elements in 2D Visual Arts (painting and Printing)

2.1. Perform Solfeggio in different time signatures ($\frac{3}{4}$, $\frac{4}{4}$)

2.1.1. Origin of solfeggio

Specific learning outcomes

At the end of this lesson, you will be able to:

- ◆ Describe the origin and meaning of solfeggio.
- ◆ Identify tonic solfa and letter name of pitches.
- ◆ Identify Name of piano keys and note name on G clef staff
- ◆ Perform solfeggio with the use of tonic solfa and musical letter naming

A. The Origins of Solfeggio

Solfeggio originated nearly a thousand years ago. An Italian monk named Guido d'Arezzo noticed that the beginning of each phrase in the Latin hymn “Ut Queant Laxis” began on each successive step of the scale. He developed a six-note ascending scale based on the first pitch of each phrase. The first syllable of the original (“ut”) was eventually changed to “do”. With this system, one could sing the hymn using these syllables, instead of the note names.

B. Pitch naming

Solfeggio is a method of naming pitches and perfuming singing vocal exercises. For example: the C major scale can be named do-re-mi-fa-so-la-ti-do, with C corresponding to do, D to re, etc These syllables are easier to sing than the actual note names, and give the melody a more memorable “song-like” quality. There are two solfeggio systems. They are movable “do” and fixed “do”

2.1.2. Perform solfeggio with Latin syllabics and musical letters

Specific learning outcomes:

At the end of this lesson, you will be able to:

- ◆ Call pitch names with tonic solfa and musical letter naming system
- ◆ Perform Solfeggio in $\frac{3}{4}$ and $\frac{4}{4}$ time signature
- ◆ Understand and perform Ethiopian Tizita and Bati moods

A. Calling pitches with Latin syllabics and musical letters

Call pitches in ascending order:Do-Re-Mi-Fa-Sol-LA-Si-Do

Call pitches in Descending order: Do-Si-LA-Sol-Fa-Mi-Re-Do

Call pitches in ascending order: C-D-E-F-G-A-B-D-C

Call pitches in Descending order: C-B-A-G-F-E-D-C

B. Practice the above pitches to perform rhythm and pitch

Practice with a piano or virtual keyboard. Play the major scale in the key of C as you sing Do-Re-Mi-Fa-Sol-La-Si-Do.

Sing up (Ascending) and down (Descending) Major diatonic scale of C. Once you can sing the scale in tune by yourself (without the help of music instrument), try moving around the scale in stepwise motion. For example: Do-Re-Do-Re-Mi-Fa-Sol-Fa-Mi-Fa-Sol-La-Ti-La-Ti-Do etc.

This way, you can practice the exercises at your own pace. You may need to move slower at first and that's ok.

Song's Meter

If the song is notated, you can just look on the music to find the meter (e.g. 3/4, 4/4, etc.). By setting the number of beats in a bar and the note value assigned to one beat, the time signature ensures that there is bar-to-bar consistency in the music where rhythm is concerned – it helps ensure that there is an underlying structure, called meter or time signature. Meter is defined as the structure of beats – more specifically, the fact that some beats are naturally more strong, or “stressed”, than others. The meter engages the ear through consistency, and is what gives music its “feel”. In an overwhelming majority of simple time signatures, beat 1 is the strongest beat in the bar, meaning you can often hear when a new bar starts by listening for an emphasized note.

4/4 time signature

We'll start with the popular kid in school – 4/4 times, being so ubiquitous that it's commonly referred to by its alternate name – common time. It can appear on sheet music in one of two ways:

4/4 times

So what makes a song “sound” like it’s in 4/4? It’s the pattern of emphasized beats, which is as follows:

Figure 3 4/4 time strong (S), weak (W), and medium (M)

Try counting or clapping along with the song; chances are, it will sound like clap-clap-clap-clap clap-clap-clap-clap, or one-two-three-four one-two-three-four.

3/4 Time

The quarter note still gets one beat, but we now have three beats to a bar. What does this mean, considering the first beat of every bar gets the strongest emphasis?

Figure-4, 4/4 time strong (S), and weak (W)

Play rhythm, pitch, beats, rest by using modes of pentatonic modes

Before you practice Ethiopian Kegnet, first you practice the seven pitches of diatonic scale. After that you will perform Tizita and Batikegnet.

Number the scale

This is a cognitively challenging exercise.

2.2. Perform Folk dance style

2.2.1 Folk Dance style practice

Specific learning outcomes:

At the end of this lesson you will be able to:

- ♦ Understand the folk dance style

1. The dance of Tigray people

The dance style of Tigrayis performed by counting one and two. In the count of one – two there is a leg, shoulder and neck one & two rhythmic coordination.

- First slightly open your leg and stand relaxes.
 - One –move the right leg at saying and fix it
 - Two – move the left leg towards the right leg at saying and fix it
 - One - move the left leg at saying and fix it
 - Two – move the right leg towards the left leg at saying and fix it
- Repeat these movements to the right and to the left, scroll, move forward and backward rhythmically

2. The Amhara people dances

The dance of Amhara/ Eskestaisis performed by counting the fast movement of One - Two. In the count of one – two there is a leg, shoulder and neck one & two rhythmical coordination.

- First slightly open your leg and stand relaxes.
- One – move the right leg at saying and fix it
- Two – move the left leg towards the right leg at saying and fix it
- One - move the left leg at saying and fix it
- Two – move the right leg towards the left leg at saying and fix it

Repeat these movements to the right and to the left, scroll, move forward and backward rhythmically

2.3. EXPRESSION OF IDEAS IN THEATER

Specific learning outcomes: at the end of learning this lesson, you will be able to:

- ♦ Express ideas in theatre, film/video

Theatre is a collaborative (a set of) arts form which combines: words, voice, movement, and visual elements to express the story (meaning). The work of theatre encompasses the live performance of improvised and scripted (text) work. It also the basic for dramatic forms such as film, television and other electronic media.

As a creative expression, theatre is one of the creative works that commonly identified methods which include drama (play), dance, music, creative writing and the visual arts, including photography, so theatre production is a professional activity that suggests the interactive creative processes of the collaborators and their work that the work itself becomes a kind of creative entity.

Concerning creative expression, it is any process in which a person processes and idea and brings it to life in different mediums of expression or forms such visual art, music, writing, theatre play, poetry, and dance, are some of the most common. Creative expression usually engages your physical body in some way, opening the potential for deeper body-mind connection that physical body, mental body and spiritual body to express one's idea.

On the other hand, expression of ideas in theatre can be transferred through elements of drama such as character role, their relationships, situation, voice (of actor, actress), movement, focus, tension, space, time, language (dialogue), symbol, audience, mood and atmosphere. Role and character The identification and portrayal of a person's values, attitudes, intentions and actions as imagined relationships, situations and ideas in dramatic action; role focus on type and stereotype; characters are detailed and specific.

Relationships: the connections and interactions between people that affect the dramatic action. Situation: The setting and circumstances of the dramatic action. For example: who, the what, the where, then when and what is at stake of the roles/characters.

Voice Using: it is the technique that suggests voice expressively to create roles, situations, relationships, atmosphere and symbols.

Movement: using facial expression, posture and action expressively in space and time to create roles, situations, relationships, atmosphere and symbols. Focus: to concentrate the attention on a spatial direction or a point in space to intensify attention or increase the projection of intent and to direct and intensify attention and frame moments of dramatic action or to identify the main idea of the drama.

Tension: a sense of anticipation or conflict within characters or character relationships, or problems, surprise and mystery in stories and ideas to propel dramatic action and create audience engagement. Space: the space of the performance and audience, fictional space of the dramatic action and the emotional space between characters.

Time: the fictional time in the narrative or setting; timing of one moment to the next contributing to the tension and rhythm of dramatic action. Language expresses that ideas and dramatic meaning which is the choice of linguistic expression and ideas in drama used to create dramatic action. Symbol Associations that occur when something is used to represent something else to reinforce or extend dramatic meaning.

Audience: a collection of individuals or groups of people who experience the arts in a range of settings and contexts (formal, informal, virtual or interactive) through intellectual, emotional and social engagement. The artist is audience to their own artwork.

Mood and atmosphere: are the elements of drama that describe the feeling or tone of both the physical space and the dramatic action created by or emerging from the performance.

Dramatic Action: it is the sense that the driving force and forward motion of drama to create dramatic meaning, tension, belief and audience engagement, and also it expresses the movement of the drama from the introduction, exposition of ideas and conflict to a resolution.

Exercise:

Explain the following question

1. Discuss about mood and atmosphere in theatre performance?
2. Describe the idea of dramatic action?

2.3.1. The Work of Theatre from Script to Stage Presentation

Producing theatre is the process of long term work (profession) that needs the collaboration of all crews that involved in it. On the other hand, producing a play involves a lot of hard works and a lengthy process, but the end results are always worth it as long as everyone does their part. It is also the result of group efforts coming together to make it good for the audience to be viewed.

To help you (students) to understand what all goes into the average production, this unit is a rough outline (basic lines, important concepts) of how plays get from the script to the stage.

Not every director, company (theatre companies), producer (who produces the theatre, play) or individual play will follow this exact process, but it will give you (the learners) the clue (hint) of how the typical production schedule will run.

To change the story or the script from page, to the stage or from script, to the stage for the performance, the following steps have to be considered.

A. Find a Script (Find the Idea, Story of the Play)

Obviously, the first step is to decide which play will be produced. Scripts should be chosen not just for their artistic quality but also based on how realistically the production can be assembled given your specific limitations. For example, few local theatre companies (such as National Theatre of Ethiopia, Hager Fiker Theatre) will have the resources to put, for example: ritual performances of Ethiopian Nations, Nationalities and People Traditional Plays), to create the platform for the wide audience in our country, so our script is suggested to have the ideas of Ethiopians' cultural values.

B. Figure out the Nitty Gritty

Nitty gritty is the process of making outlines for the basic ideas to be done. It involves several smaller but equally-pivotal (vital, important) steps.

C. Deciding who will be in charge (Who will be responsible, Formation of Staffs, Crew)

Assigning titles like director, choreographer, producer, musical director, production, PR (public relation) etc. will help establish chain-of-command and make decisions easier to make division of labor for the sake of production quality.

D. Forming a Rough Budget

Even if all you have is pocket lint, the available funds must be accounted for and allotted towards certain needs like costumes, props, make-ups and publicity. This step can also involve determining volunteers to help with production work, like finding a skilled seamstress who is willing to contribute for free. Determining a venue is also crucial at this time (level).

E. Crafting an Initial Artistic Vision

The producer and the director will have to work together to decide their initial interpretation of the script. This interpretation must account for the available budget as well as any ideas each party brings to the table.

3. Casting

Auditions let the director and producer find actors (actresses) who are able to fill the needed roles. At this point, technical workers like lighting crew, stage crew and others may be assigned or hired.

4. Rehearsals

Rehearsals go through their own multi-step process in such as:

a) Read through: Under this point, it suggests that the first rehearsal usually involves a “table read” of the script where each person simply says their lines or dialogues character. Directors (director) may choose to cut or modify lines at this point based on how the table read goes.

b) Blocking: (Actors movement on the stage), blocking is the process of determining how actors will move throughout a scene (unit). Most stage directions are quite bare (blank space), so the director will have to figure out who is going to be doing what while they say their lines. Blocking usually takes up the first one to two weeks of rehearsal.

c) Rehearse, rehearse and rehearse some more: this point suggests that blocking, line deliveries and even script elements will be modified at first to fit within the director’s needs and vision. Eventually, actors will have to memorize their lines and try to get the play perfect in preparation for opening night.

d) Special rehearsals are that: plays (play) that require singing or dancing will often have separate rehearsals at first to practice these elements before they can be brought into regular rehearsals.

e) Dress rehearsal are that: in the last weeks of rehearsal, costumes, props and finalized set elements should all be ready to be incorporated within rehearsal. A final set of rehearsals known as dress rehearsals imitate the exact conditions of the live production.

5. Publicity and Opening Night (The Work of Public Relation, PR)

Finally, the producer must advertise the play in order to ensure that an audience will be there. Publicity should be ongoing for several weeks leading up to the first production. These publicity efforts can involve fliers, school announcements, newspaper coverage, paid advertisements and anything else the producer can do to draw an audience for their play. Once rehearsals have been perfected and an audience has been assembled, everyone will gather for opening night to see if all the hard work has paid off. A play will usually run for a few nights to a few weeks. Longer productions will require constant regular and dress rehearsals to keep everyone at the top of their game in between shows.

Note: the term an idea represents that what we want to deliver, what we want to say, what story we wish to tell to the audience in the planned or formulated thought that narrates our belief, opinion, or plan in theatre arts.

2.3.2. Express Ideas in Photography

Specific learning outcomes:

At the end of learning this lesson, you will be able to:

- ♦ Express ideas (themes) in photography

(Creative Idea Expression in Photography, Creative Photography)

The specific objective of this content: the specific objective of this content is to enable learners to express their ideas in photography.

Creative is a somewhat unique category in photography. This category includes photos and edits that are specifically made to give a certain mood, focus on a certain theme, or anything to be honest.

It involves adopting a new, different approach towards a photo, without which it would be seen as a common picture.

Adding extra elements to a picture to highlight certain textures and features has become a common practice in the industry (photography industry), although the amount and the post-processing will often separate creative photography from common photography.

The photographers don't have to stay in the formal learning of the photography. They are able to become better thinker, able to learn new innovations, come up with new goals and plans to implement their knowledge. This technical strategy in photography is called thinking out of the box to be creative photographers.

The photographers are also advised to ask themselves what they can do differently in the shoot they want to capture. Many ideas will then pop up. Execute each of them, and maximize the potential of each photo that you take. Start off by carrying your camera everywhere to seek out some pictures and ideas that randomly cross your mind.

Exercise:

Discuss the following question

1. Identify about the tasks of photographers?

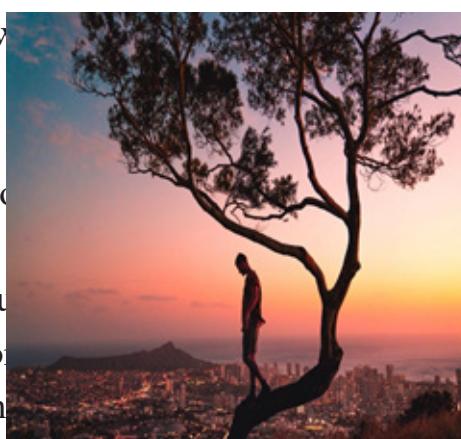

Photo (1)

The photographer may see a beautiful sunset, and two sunsets. He/she can also pour some water on the ground to shoot its reflection on the water.

Photographers could also re-photograph it after adding some strobe lights to highlight the main object. If paintings aren't your thing, add objects on it as long as it's the ‘creative’ aspect.

On the other hand, the pect. With how ‘abstract’ the word creative can be, combined with how different people’s standards are for each creative artwork, it is difficult to please everyone. For example: in fictional shoots as creative, some photographers ask for a deeper meaning, and some just don’t need that much “abstractness”. It deepens on their goal and new strategies to implement their knowledge in photography.

In the vast world of photography and creativity, it may be hard, or difficult to fit everyone’s, photographer, and criteria. But certain techniques have been so popular that they have become the specific photographer’s trademark.

If a picture has intentionally been treated in a way that gives it a deeper meaning, then it can be categorized as a creative photograph!

A creative photograph would be a photograph that intentionally uses various techniques and effects to reach the desired result.

At the core of it, it is about conscious attempts to manipulate (handful) and take photos, where your imagination becomes the limit. Many photographers have different takes on what a creative photograph is, but after skimming through them and drawing connections between them, we’ve concluded that a creative photograph is a photo given a twist to invoke certain meanings.

2.3.2.1. Popular Creative Photography Techniques/Ideas/

The term itself may be a bit confusing for new or even experienced members of the photography community, or for photographers. Some photographers have many ideas for creative photography but are afraid to execute them because they think creative photos must be super extravagant and abstract.

This isn't always true, and in order to give you a rough idea of what creative photography looks like and how it's done, we have put together a few techniques, ideas, and some creative photography examples. One of the examples in creative Photography is "Bokeh" that is taken as a popular example which looks like small glowing orbs. These orbs appear when your camera lens tries to record unfocused points of light.

It is typically unwanted and appears unintentionally in the background when shooting photos. Try and figure out different points of view, depth of field, and settings that can create "bokeh" in a beneficial way.

2.3.2.2. Creative Photography in Painting

Other creative photography examples that we love involve painting. After printing the photo (post-production), incorporate paint or any desirable medium by smearing, dipping, redrawing, and the list goes on.

2.3.2.3. Creative Photography in Double Exposure

Another cool technique is to project images onto textured surfaces and re-photograph.

These techniques give a normal, mundane, nothing out of the ordinary picture some extra meaning.

Photo (4)

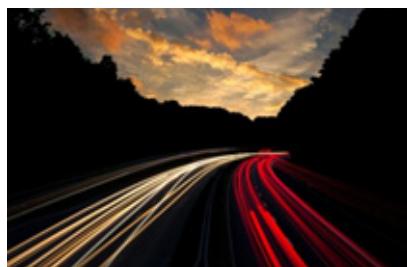

The photographer could take a picture of a near by tower and project it onto a water ripple or any textured surfaces that you deem fit, and voila (there you are). A unique and creative photograph is born. A similar alternative is to perform a double exposure that a favorite trick of film photographers; some modern SLR's, or single lens reflex is incorporating this feature.

2.3.2.4. Creative Photography in Motion Blur

Motion blur is another popular technique that brings life to a photo.

The motion blur can be achieved by either photographing moving objects with a longer exposure or by moving the camera to follow a moving object.

2.3.2.5. Creative Photography in Get Macro

Macro photography can bring smaller objects to life. With a macro lens you open up a whole new world.

There are many more creative photography examples out there.

Photo (6)

The photographers will be able to use a source of inspiration that they do like and give it unique twist and push the boundaries and find what works best for them. They also create creative effect by using special lenses to create creative camera effects.

2.3.2.6. The Importance of Creativity in Photography

Creativity is an integral part of photography. With the rise of social media and the mundane shots that often circulate on those platforms, there seems to be less space for creative photography to thrive.

All of these creative photography ideas offer something new, refreshing, and more noticeable. When it comes to photography, being creative is beneficial in many ways.

It gives you a huge advantage over more mundane photographers. The reason behind this lies in the uniqueness, which can make your photographs more eye-catching when people are skimming over photos. This uniqueness shows the audience your capability in expressing yourself. Creativity allows you to slap all the emotions you want onto a picture. Indirectly, your photograph will be able to inspire many more people and possibly start a new trend.

Summary: creative photography is an interesting and simple, yet unique category of photography.

Many people can enter the scene yet not every artwork will become a trend. By intentionally doing something new and unique to a normal photo, it can turn into a creative photograph.

People do have different standards about how a creative photograph should look, which makes it a bit hard to please everyone in the photography community.

2.3.3. Creative Expression of Theme in Movie (Film)

Specific learning outcomes:

At the end of this lesson you will be able to:

- ♦ Express ideas in movie or film.

Concerning the creative expression of theme in video, it is vital to discuss its definition, so the term theme is defined as the central idea in film or video making. It is the film's central or unifying concept that evokes a universal human experience and can be stated in one word or short phrase like: "beauty, renaissance, love, death, democracy, inflation, covid-19, HIV/Aids" and etc. can be taken as an example of theme in one word or short phrase.

It is also referred as the idea, premise, or purpose of a movie. In this context, it is the whole reason why movies are made. On the other hand, the theme is the heart of the movie in which the movie is regulated by the theme. It suggests that why people, or viewers go to the movies. People may prefer to go to movies to learn something new, to enjoy, whatever it may be, that is useful to keep the viewers' brains active and more youthful, plus it's interesting and makes movies a lot more fun. On the other hand, the theme will answer why people go to movies that states movies help people to escape from real life for a few hours, and sometimes that can be a wonderful distraction from everything that is going on. This process of people who goes to movie is gained through theme understanding.

The characters, story (action), photography, or cinematography, plot and genre of the movie are regulated by theme. They demonstrate how the theme is displayed, yet most people do not know or understand what the theme is when they go to see a movie and when they discuss the movie afterward.

The producer, who does the hiring and firing of employees and finds the money to make the movie, picks the theme. Once the producer picks the theme for a movie, he or she will hire a writer, to create the theme, and a director, to express the theme on film. Or, the producer can look through completed scripts to find a script that exemplifies his or her preferred theme.

By the end of the construction of the theme, the script will contain a story or action plus a plot. Both of these elements, combined, produce the character development, which yields or reflects the theme. Essentially, all aspects of the movie revert back to the theme.

Theme made of story (Action) + Plot = Character Development that yield the Theme.

The above elements of the story, plot, and character development give meaning to the theme. Theme or idea or premise of a movie can be expressed in one sentence. It may seem unusual that the purpose of a multi-million dollar, or multi-thousand birr of Ethiopians movie project will begin with one sentence, and it may seem unusual that, at the end of the project with the completed movie, it all boils down to one sentence, but it really does. Examples of themes can be analyzed by the period or decade in which a movie was made. Themes, and the resulting movies, are often a product and reflection of the social, economic or political climate of that time in history. The importance of the theme cannot be overemphasized. The whole purpose and perspective of a movie is transformed when the theme changes.

Generally, movie acceptance is based on themes. The themes indicated throughout this chapter change and develop. Seeing this change and development will help students understand themes and why movies are the way they are in the modern age.

Exercises:

- A) What is the work of theatre from script to stage presentation? Discuss in the class.
- B) What is photography? Use the camera and express your ideas.

2.4. Painting and printing

Specific learning outcomes:

at the end of learning this lesson, you will be able to:

- ◆ understand the nature of colors
- ◆ identify painting and printmaking materials
- ◆ distinguish colors by types and degree
- ◆ develop creative skills by making paintings and printmaking
- ◆ do drawings, printing and printmaking
- ◆ identify the types of printings

2.4.1. Drawing

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Understand the purpose of drawing.
- Skill up drawing skill.

Drawing is often used as a starting point in the creation of most artwork. Artists use it as a means to record and experiment with their initial ideas as well as to help them to plan the production of their finished works. Sculptors, painters, printmakers, and ceramic artists often use drawings prior to producing their final pieces.

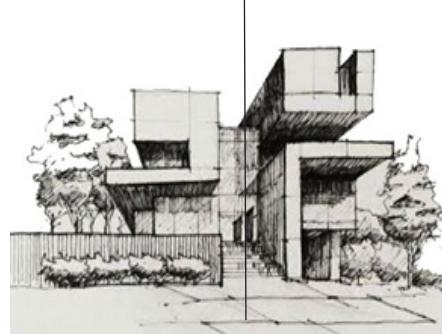

Fig. 2 Asymmetrical drawing

Exercise 2.4.1

1. Practice still life drawings and show for your teacher
2. Prepare still life drawing for painting

2.4.2. Painting

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- identify painting materials.
- identify the types of printings.
- develop creative skills by making paintings.

Painting, like drawing, is another major means by which marks are created on the surface. Whether painting is to create a realistic representation of a subject, to explore an idea or to react to a feeling, painting just like drawing, allows anyone to respond and express themselves visually. Paint is obviously used in painting. The paint itself is made up of two separate ingredients – pigment that creates the color and a medium which moistens and bonds the color onto a surface.

Mediums of painting Equipment needed for painting Pencil, charcoal, crayons, traditional dyes, contemporary paints- acrylic, watercolor, gauge, tempera, oil paint, poster color canvas, brushes, palette, sponge, string, and palette knives.

The major elements of painting is color

Exercise 2.4.2

1. Practice mixing colors.
2. Paint still life drawings use one (monochromatic) color.

Color: Color (or hue) is at the heart of every painting. It is arguably the most important element because it sets the tone for how viewers feel about the work. It can, for instance, be warm and inviting or cold and stark. Either way, color can set the mood for a piece. There are endless ways that painters can play with color. Quite often, an artist may be drawn toward a particular palette that tends to define the style of their entire body of work. Color theory is one of the keys to working with color, especially for painters. Each new color you introduce to a canvas plays a vital role in the perception viewers have of the piece. Color can be broken down further into hue, intensity, and value. Also, many artists choose to work with a mother color when painting. This is a particular paint hue that is mixed into each painting that touches the canvas and it can bring uniformity.

Exercise 2.4.2

Choose the correct answer

1. Which one is primary color?
A. Orange B. Violet C. Red D. Black
2. The three properties of colors are?
A. Hue B. Value C. Intensity D. All
3. Which one is secondary color?
A. Orange B. yellow C. Red D. Blue

2.4.3. Printmaking

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Identify and apply the types of printings
- develop creative skills by making printmaking

Printmaking is the process of creating artworks by printing, normally on paper, but also on fabric, wood, metal, and other surfaces. "Traditional printmaking" normally covers only the process of creating prints using a hand processed technique, rather than a photographic reproduction of a visual artwork which would be printed using an electronic machine (a printer); however, there is some cross-over between traditional and digital printmaking, including risograph(digital screen printing).

Except in the case of mono-typing, all printmaking processes have the capacity to produce identical multiples of the same artwork, which is called a print. Each print produced is considered an "original" work of art, and is correctly referred to as an "impression", not a "copy" (that means a different print copying the first, common in early printmaking). However, impressions can vary considerably, whether intentionally or not. Master printmakers are technicians who are capable of printing identical "impressions" by hand. Historically, many printed images were created as a preparatory study, such as a drawing. A print that copies another work of art, especially a painting, is known as a "reproductive print".

Exercise 2.4.3

Choose the correct answer

1. Which one of the following is not methods of print making
 - A. Painting B. Screen-printing C. Block printing D. Intaglio

printing

2. _____ is a type of stenciling that involves designing an image and then applying the paint or ink through a screen.
- A. Screen-printing
 - B. Block printing
 - C. Intaglio printing
 - D. Lithography

3. _____ is the process of carving patterns, shapes and designs into a ‘block’.
- A. Intaglio printing
 - B. Block printing
 - C. Screen-printing
 - D. Lithography

Summary questions

1. Draw and paint still life
2. Make paper cut then
 - ⌚ Describe your painting and paper cut for your teachers and friends.
Identify the media you used to create the different areas.
 - ⌚ Judge state whether your art work symmetrical or asymmetrical?

Unit summary

In This unit covers two types of topics including the first lesson on painting, which deals with color characteristics and watercolor painting techniques. It also contains, primary colors, secondary colors and tertiary colors as well as the complementary color and analogous color scheme. On the other lesson it has detail information about the types of printing techniques and printmaking materials has raised.

Unit3

History and Culture

Introduction to Unit Three:

Music is an art of making placing the combination of sounds in rhythm harmony and counter point. And music is an art and science. And music is a universal language meaning music is a part of culture.

History of indigenous music in Ethiopia is orally transmitted through generation to generation. There is seemingly no human culture, even those most remote from civilization that is without singing. Folksongs are discovered, rediscovered, and newly invented in all cultures and civilizations from the primitive to the most developed, all over the world. African and Native American tribal societies whose only musical instruments are drums, bells, and rattles show a complex style of singing. Children constantly demonstrate their instinctual singing, whether by imitation or by spontaneous invention, sometimes before they are old enough to talk.

As the oldest and most primal of the performing arts, dance has existed across all cultures and historical periods. As an expressive art form, dance provides an embodied, physical form for conveying images and feelings. In this sense, dance offers both the medium and the message and creates a close connection between the two. Dance experiences contribute to personal, social, economic, cultural, and civic aspects of life. Dance serves multiple purposes that permeate cultures worldwide, including performing, healing, entertaining, celebrating, socializing, learning, worshiping, becoming physically fit, and communicating. This unit also introduces historical and cultural contexts that enable you to express indigenous knowledge in theatre, video/ film and other knowledge.

On the other hand, Addis Ababa is the center of different artists like painters, sculptors and ceramist. In this chapter you will know the history of some influential artist in Addis Ababa. Most of this influential artists studied modern art in different foreign countries and in Addis Ababa school of Fine arts which was opened in 1957 by Emperor Haile Selassie I. These modern artists mainly focus on painting and graphics. There are also artists who were self-thought and didn't study in art institutions. These artists also play a huge role in the development of Addis Ababa's art history.

General Learning Outcomes of Unit three:

At the End of this Unit, You Will Be able to:

- ◆ Understand history and culture of Ethiopian music.
- ◆ Appreciate music works and recognize ways of preparing indigenous music works.
- ◆ Understand history and culture of Ethiopian Dance.
- ◆ Appreciate dance works and recognize ways of preparing indigenous Dance works.
- ◆ Express indigenous knowledge through theatre, video/film.
- ◆ Know the history of artists in Addis Ababa.
- ◆ Know art works made by influential artists know the history of artists in Addis Ababa.
- ◆ Know art works made by influential artists.

3.1. Indigenous music history and indigenous music artists

Specific learning outcomes:

At the end of this lesson you will be able to:

- ◆ Explain history of music and culture of Ethiopian people
- ◆ Define the meaning of indigenous music of Ethiopia
- ◆ Identify the difference between the word indigenous and cultural music
- ◆ Assess some selected indigenous song performances

It is known that Indigenous music educations in Ethiopia were used by church personals since 500 AD. But also the modern music education in Ethiopia is the recent phenomenon emerged with modern education as one of performing arts curriculum since 1950s. The music education and training has been playing a vital role in offering multicultural awareness for nation and nationalities of Ethiopian societies. Music is used as additionally part of almost every human activity, which can and does shape, support social, political, economic, linguistic, religious and other kinds of behavior”. The dimension of music cuts across all aspects of culture consisting of: - a. Material culture and its approvals, b. Social institutions, c. Mind and universe d. Aesthetic and language. Music is believed to yield crucial information in various aspects of culture including education, social and political scopes, in reconstructing culture history, entertainment etc. Ethiopia has a vast range of cultural heritages. Such cultural experiences and heritages are found and programmed in many forms, symbols, rituals, design, art facts, music, dance, proverbs, poetry, architecture, technology, science and oral traditions.

Ethiopian minstrels' (Azmariwotch)

Ethiopian traditional dance and musical instruments (steaks and...)

Exercise:

Explain the following history related questions

1. What is music in general?
2. What is the relationship of music and culture?
3. Write the three dimension of culture?
4. Describe at list two cultural heritages?
5. What is culture?

3.1.1. Indigenous music

The word ‘indigenous’ is an adjective used of a person, language, culture, or some aspect of culture. As commonly used, ‘indigenous’ means something similar to the older word ‘native’; nowadays not considered ‘polite’ given its implications of meaning of ‘primitive’ and all the associated negative implications. Indigenous is a primary adjective that does not stem from a noun: Despite the emergence of ‘indigene’ for an indigenous person/people and ‘indigeneity’ for the quality of being indigenous, it is the adjective ‘indigenous’ that remains the dominant usage.

3.1.2. The importance of Indigenous music

Musical cultures in an advanced stage of development show melody at the center of their art. Ethiopian music has evolved the greatest variety in melody, vocal and instrumental and refined, communal and individual, monophonic and textured. In it’s the most wonderful state of evolution, as in the late “lalibelotch” (minstrels) or the ”Azmariwotch” (Troubadours) musical performance.

3.1.3. Music of indigenous people

Specific learning outcomes

At the end of this lesson you will be able to:

- ◆ Understand the music of indigenous people
- ◆ Identify the unique characteristics of indigenous music

The term "Indigenous" defined according to UN as "Groups of people whose social, cultural and economic conditions distinguish them from other sections of the national communities, and whose status is regulated wholly or partially by their own customs or traditions or by special laws or regulations.

Music of indigenous people or music created or produced naturally in a particular region (typically non-western) is although a primitive music it can be quite in rhythm, harmony, melody, and form.

The first explanation says that “music is an art of sound in time that expresses ideas and emotions in significant forms through the elements of rhythm, melody, harmony, and color”.

Music plays a big part of everybody lives. Some archaeologist point that music has been in existence since prehistoric times over 55000 year ago some scholars says that music origin from nature. Human is the best part of nature. The life song of the massive nature is being sung in different forms.

Indigenous folks and their musical performance

3.1.4. Music and culture

Specific learning outcomes

At the end of this lesson you will be able to:

- ◆ Differentiate the Ethiopian music and culture.
- ◆ Define the meaning of the word culture?
- ◆ Describe the different ethnic music culture of Ethiopia?

3.2. Dance Education

Specific learning outcomes

At the end of this lesson you will be able to:

- Understand history of dance and culture of Ethiopia
- know the meaning of indigenous dance of Ethiopia
- Identify the difference between the indigenous and cultural dance
- Assess some selected indigenous dance performances

Dance education draws from a broad field of dance practices that include performing, improvising, choreographing, critiquing, recording, viewing, and more. Dance education explores ways that human bodies move “through space and time with energy or effort”. These practices offer multiple ways for learners to engage with, make sense of, and respond to their world through various approaches and in diverse dance education contexts. There is seemingly no human culture, even those most remote from civilization that is without dancing. Folk dancing are discovered, rediscovered, and newly invented in all cultures and civilizations from the primitive to the most developed, all over the world. Dance education develops important disciplinary and cross-curricular competencies for learning and living well together in an interconnected world. Dance education contributes to learning engagement, self-efficacy, and a wide range of positive academic, social, and emotional effects. Dance education offers learners diverse, unique, and powerful ways of perceiving and making meaning about the world. Dance education is important because Dance has intrinsic value. Dance is a vital, integral part of all human experience, culture, and history, and has expressed and enriched life since the beginning of time. Dance helps to develop understanding of self and the world. It profoundly engages body, mind, and spirit to communicate ideas and feelings that often cannot be expressed by any other means.

3.2.1. Indigenous Dance

Specific Learning Outcomes of the unit

At the end of this lesson you will be able to:

- ◆ Understand the meaning of indigenous Dance
- ◆ Know the difference between the word indigenous and cultural Dance

Dance experiences contribute to personal, social, economic, cultural, and civic aspects of life. Dance serves multiple purposes that permeate cultures worldwide, including performing, healing, entertaining, celebrating, socializing, learning, worshiping, becoming physically fit, and communicating.

Because people are cultural beings, we live within a culture even if we do not recognize it. As people learn most about their culture from their families and community, different social groups develop specific ways of talking, behaving, and thinking. That is, when people share the same culture, religion, geography, origin, and language, they have a shared ethnic identity.

These types of dance are circle dance called SelemeSeleme. This dance is known by Wolayita ethnic group indigenous dance.

As students are viewing the video, they will list the various areas of interest and categories that are mentioned. They will take notes, making observations about the unique aspects of the aural and visual content.

Students will share their observations, with the class, or in smaller groups.

Students will watch the following two videos. They were created by Wolaita popular dance artists. Each video contains visual content that is discussed and viewed in the previous video.

Students will compare and contrast each video with the other two videos in areas such as, art, music, dance, nature, transportation, food, and other areas of interest.

3.2.2. Indigenous dance practice

Indigenous' means something similar to the older word 'native'; nowadays not considered 'polite' given its implications of meaning of 'primitive' and all the associated negative implications. Indigenous is a primary adjective that does not stem from a noun. The Primitive Period: There is evidence of dance that dates back to the Paleolithic period, seen through rock paintings depicting dance. "Through much research by leading historians and by studying current uses of dance in several primitive cultures, we know that in these cultures people used dance as a means of communication and as a way of life."

In many primitive societies rituals involving dance are performed at births, marriages, and deaths. Possibly some of the most significant rituals are those performed for means of fertility such as food and children. Our ancestors asked, for rain, sun, harvest, and healthy children.

Many of these movements mimicked the nearby animals, the crazy forces of Mother Nature, and the hypothesized immortal lives of the Gods. Some of these rituals lasted many hours, even days, and an inconceivable thought to the contemporary dance world. The Ancient Period: The dances of the ancient civilizations began to acknowledge the aesthetic purposes of the art. They began to question the way the dance looked and what it meant; what the movements represented and how they may be interpreted.

3.3. Indigenous Knowledge in Theatre and Film

Specific learning outcomes

At the end of this lesson you will be able to:

- ◆ Understand concepts of indigenous knowledge
- ◆ Express indigenous knowledge through theatre, film or video

Indigenous (traditional), or local knowledge refer to the understandings and forms such as intentions, desires, and emotions guiding principles of behaviors, skills possessed by societies with long histories of interaction with their natural surroundings. This knowledge has been orally passed from one generation to another.

In the term of broadly speaking, indigenous knowledge is used by local people to make a living standard in a specific or particular environment and encompasses all forms of knowledge such as practices, cultural rituals food preparation, conservation, conflict resolution, health care, education, and beliefs that enable the societies to get stable livelihood in their natural village to communicate their environment. It has its own advantages for the local communities and used to inform decision making that helps a society makes decisions about activities, such as agriculture and education that are acceptable to their life ways. It is also the basic aspects of day to day life for rural indigenous people and used as a key for the societal change of this era.

The transmission of traditional knowledge across generations is the central importance to keep safe and encourage indigenous peoples' cultures and identities and as well as the sustainability of necessities of life, resilience to man-made and natural disasters, and sustaining culturally appropriate economic development. Traditional knowledge can make a significant contribution to sustainable development. Indigenous knowledge can be expressed through different means. Some of its forms are expressed through stories, legends, folklore, rituals, songs, and even laws. Other forms of traditional knowledge are often expressed through different means. Concerning the application of traditional or indigenous knowledge, it is also expressed in the approach that native people have a good understanding of the natural resource base because they have lived in the same, or similar, environment for many generations, and have accumulated and passed on knowledge of the natural conditions, soils, vegetation, harvest, irrigation, shifting cultivation, farming, pastoralist, fishing, agro forestry, hunting and gathering.

On the other hand, there are disadvantages of indigenous or traditional knowledge. Those disadvantages are as follows:

- Remoteness and geographical isolation.
- Widespread poverty.
- Substandard housing and overcrowding.
- Low parental involvement.

About its approach, indigenous knowledge includes the knowledge that is developed by the indigenous people community (local society), and passed formally or informally through old culture, traditions, ritual practices, interaction with natural environment, but all traditional practices might not be reliable.

On the other hand, indigenous beliefs, customs and practices may vary according to time. This is the main disadvantage of indigenous knowledge.

Sometimes the knowledge of indigenous people may be wrong when comparing with scientific knowledge. It also results in the wrong prediction about a particular thing.

About general concepts of traditional or indigenous knowledge, it is clearly mentioned above in this unit. Concerning the expression of indigenous knowledge through theatre and film, we have to consider Ethiopian local aspects to express indigenous knowledge in theatre and film. In the cultural context of our country, Ethiopia is a multi-cultural and multi-ethnic country with different cultures. Because of this our theatre/film writers, producer, directors, actors, actresses, designers, promoters, instructors, trainers, learners, teachers, audiences, playwrights, critics and all stake, share holders are advisable to express our indigenous knowledge in theatre and film productions. They don't have to impose westernization styles to our people audience.

Generally, Ethiopia has diversified cultures that have rich oral and ritual traditions of indigenous knowledge to be shared, so we have to advert and promote our own form of folklore, experiences, traditional, rituals, history, and the current situations of Ethiopian societies through theatre and film mediums.

3.4.2 Ethiopian Manuscripts

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Understand Ethiopian manuscripts

In Sub-Saharan Africa, Ethiopia is exceptional in that It had its own written tradition — in Gé'ez (Ethiopia, old Ethiopia), an indigenous Semitic language — from a very early period, while Ethiopian Christian literature in Ge'ez is unique in terms of quantity and quality of the works. Writing existed in Ethiopia long before the production of literature and manuscripts, and left traces in the form of epigraphic monuments.

The main type of Ethiopian handwritten book is the codex, made of folded parchment leaves which are collected in gatherings, sewn together, and given covers. The codex (mäshaf, branna) has dominated the local manuscript culture throughout its history. It is impossible today to establish the exact time when it was first introduced to Ethiopia, but the earliest known Ethiopian manuscripts are codices. The size of the codex varies greatly, depending on the time of preparation and the given text: from “pocket-size” books to volumes more than 45 cm in height, so heavy that a grown man could hardly carry them.

Exercise 3.4.3

3.4.4 Pottery

At the end of this lesson you will be able to

- Understand and Identify Ethiopian pottery

These traditional pieces of pottery were crafted by women's.

Pottery remains alive today, mainly by women who inherited their mothers' skills before them. In fact, the women started to organize and form associations to better practice their art and produce better quality. There's even a general rule of conduct, stuff like not making similar items and specializing in different capacities (figurines, pots, plates...). These communities are not only a way for them to survive but for the art itself to survive-
